Fill in the Gaps in your Testing Program - 90 Day Historic Use

When you need to know more..

In line with our ongoing commitment to deliver expansive drug testing options to meet the numerous requirements of our diverse range of customers we have now added hair testing to our list of services.

Hair drug testing is not intended as a replacement for routine workplace drug testing methods but more so for particular applications. Testing for drugs in hair is often required in the following circumstances:

When zero tolerance to drug use is essential and historical use is monitored – a hair test can determine drug use for a period of up to 90 days approximately post use.

The sample cannot be substituted or adulterated as the collection is directly observed – the sample is collected and sealed in the presence of the donor and a witness if required.

Historical drug use can be determined in approximately 30 day blocks – showing if a donor has quit and abstained for a particular period.
